OLD DUBBO GAOL
WHERE HISTORY COMES TO LIFE

I am going to visit the Old Dubbo Gaol!

Old Dubbo Gaol is a museum! I can learn about the history of the Gaol and the people who lived and worked here.

When I arrive at the museum, I will have to wait while my guardian buys my ticket.

These are some of the staff I might see when I visit the Old Dubbo Gaol.
They are very friendly.

I will get a map and I can ask for a torch. These things will help me walk around the Old Dubbo Gaol.

When I visit the Gaol, I will walk around with a guardian at all times.
I will listen and learn as we walk around. I will use a quiet voice.

I will see lots of different things in the museum. My guardian can help explain some of the things I am seeing!

I will see other people. They are visiting too!

I will see some mannequins. They look real, but are only pretend, and it is okay not to like them.

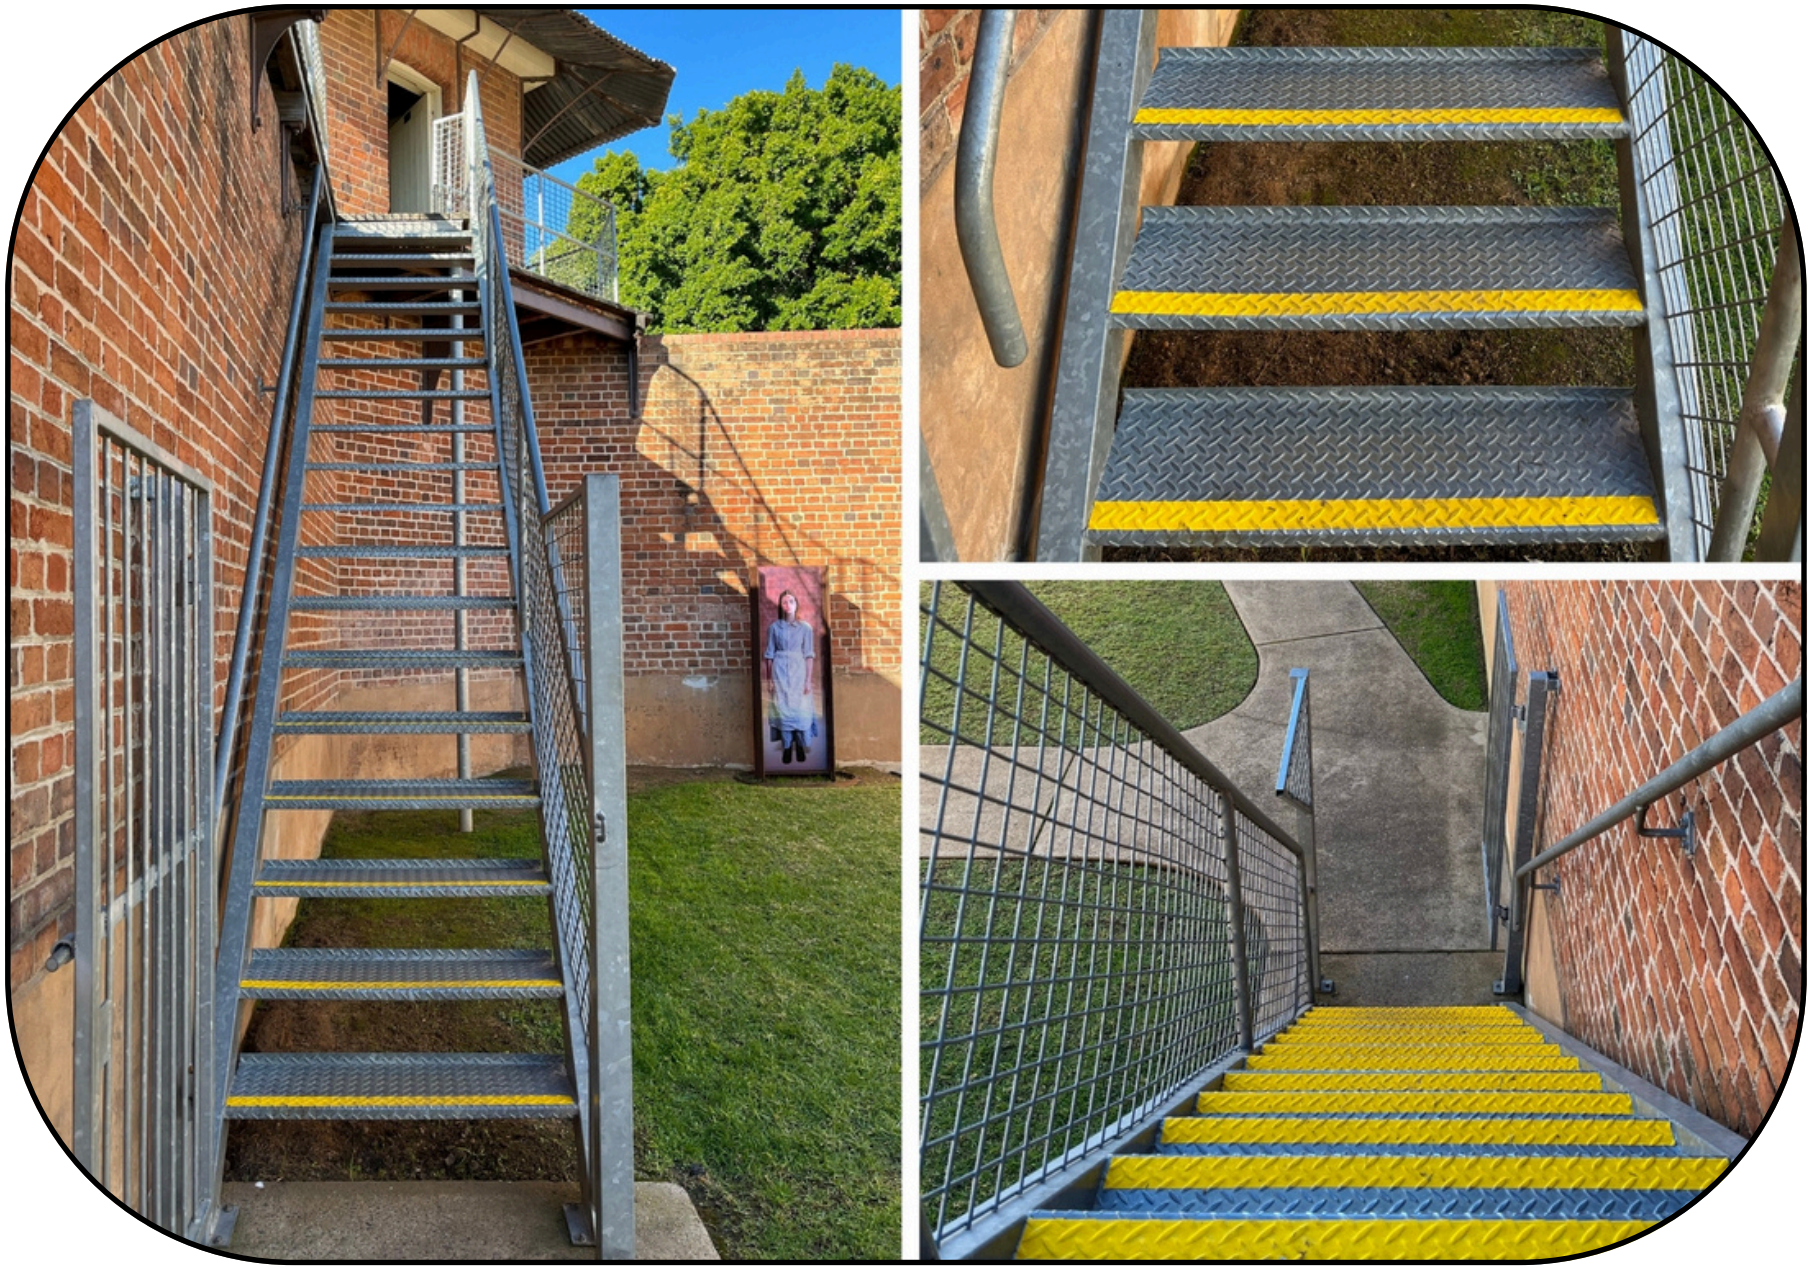

I might see Billy, Tilly or the Guard. They will laugh and tell jokes. They might be a bit loud. It is okay not to talk to them.

This is one of the old buildings. I can go inside, but it’s OK if I don’t want to. My Guardian will stay with me if we go inside.

This is the dark cell. There is no light inside, but I can take a torch if I want. It is OK if I do not want to go in.

This is the watchtower. It is important I hold onto the hand rail or my guardians hand as I walk up and down the stairs. I will be careful and go slow. It can be quite high up! The yellow tape will help me with each step.
It's OK if I do not want to go up there.

This is the Gallows Gallery. It is ok if I don't want to stay in the room. My guardian might decide to walk past this area.

This is the gallows. I am not allowed to go up the stairs.

If I need space to play, my guardian can take me to the grassed area.

If I need a quiet space to rest, I can ask to sit in the staff room for as long as I need.

I can take lots of pictures at the Old Dubbo Gaol. I can even dress up if I want to.

I might like to take my photo in the stocks, where my guardian will carefully bring the stocks closed. The stocks will not hurt me and can be opened anytime.

If I have any questions about my visit, I can ask a staff member.
The staff wear a dark blue shirt with a picture of the Gaol gates on the front.

I walked ALL around the Gaol. I can go to the front desk and ask for a sticker.

Going to the Old Dubbo Gaol was fun.

I am proud of myself.
